

Laser Tag Game Night Guide

7 ways to play, setup checklist, and house rules — made for projector laser tag sets like the VATOS CSTAG 2-gun set.

Setup Checklist (5 minutes)

- Pick a room with a large blank wall; dim the lights for the brightest projection.
- Place the projector 6-10 feet from the wall and check that targets look sharp.
- Put fresh batteries in both guns (batteries are usually NOT included).
- Do a test round: confirm both guns register hits before the kids arrive.
- Clear tripping hazards — players will move around while aiming.

7 Game Modes

- 1. Solo Duck Hunt — One player, 2 minutes on the clock. Count hits. Highest score wins the round.
- 2. Head-to-Head Duel — Two players, same targets. First to 20 hits wins. Best of 3 rounds.
- 3. Team Colors Battle — Use the set's team-color modes: 2 vs 2, most team hits in 5 minutes wins.
- 4. Time Trial — Solo speed run: clear every projected target as fast as possible. Track best times on the score sheet below.
- 5. Parents vs Kids — Adults get a 10-second head start for the kids. Handicap keeps it fun for everyone.
- 6. Moving Target Round — One person slowly pans the projector (or players shoot while walking side to side). Harder — double points.
- 7. Tournament Night — 4+ players, single-elimination bracket. Loser refills the snack bowls.

House Rules (post these on the fridge)

- Infrared toy guns only — never aim at faces or eyes, even though the signal is low-power.
- No running with the projector in hand; it stays on the table.
- Call your hits honestly — the honor system is the whole game.
- Winner picks the next game mode.
