10 Tickle Games

- Tickle countdown: count 1-2-3 before each tickle. Your toddler will start giggling at 2.
- Copycat giggles: after Elmo laughs, everyone copies the laugh. Loudest wins.
- Tickle tag: pass Elmo around the room. The holder gets tickled by Elmo.
- Freeze giggle: tickle Elmo, then shout FREEZE. Everyone holds a giggle face.
- Hide and tickle: hide Elmo under a blanket. Toddler finds him and tickles him awake.
- Giggle telephone: tickle Elmo, pass the laugh down a line of kids.
- Slow tickle, fast tickle: gentle squeezes vs fast squeezes. Name the difference.
- Elmo says: like Simon says, but Elmo giggles when you get it right.
- Belly vs feet: test which spot makes the biggest giggle. Chart the results.
- Goodnight giggle: one final tickle before bed, then Elmo sleeps.

The Try Me Tab Moment

- Elmo ships in Try Me mode with a tab in the battery pack. Pull it out together.
- Make it a ritual: count down, pull the tab, then the first tickle is a celebration.
- Keep the box for a week in case the battery flap needs checking.

Quiet-Time Wind-Down

- After big giggle sessions, flip the battery switch to off for quiet cuddle time.
- Read a story with Elmo as the audience. He is a great listener.
- Remember: he is firm, not cuddly — pair him with a soft blanket for naps.
